

Procuring Visas for Employees Takes Up a Ton of Time...

And We Think Your Time is Valuable!

Are you finding that too much of your day is being spent working on employee travel documents? Or, are you not getting the level of service you deserve from your current visa service provider?

Swift can help! Our team has decades of experience working with foreign consulates and we know how to overcome virtually every potential problem that can arise with visa applications.

“ It’s nice to feel like people care about my deadlines, and will go the extra mile for me, especially in a tight situation! Now that I work with Swift, I spend far less time worrying, and following up on the progress of my orders. I know they have it under control, and it’s off of the list of things I need to worry about. ”

We’ll Get You There

At Swift, our customers matter to us. We take great pride in offering exceptional service to every customer we are lucky enough to work with. Here are some of the benefits we promise you’ll receive:

- We’re going to save you time, and we’re going to save you money.
- We’re going to listen to your pain points and keep the entire visa process easy, stream-lined, and simple.
- We’re going to remain transparent and communicate with you each step of the way. You will always have answers to your questions from experts in the industry.
- We’re going to make you look good time and time again with personalized service you’ll love.

Swift’s co-founder, Laurie Lee, personally oversees each corporate account. This means you’re going to be provided with the highest level of service possible from a small, but nimble team.

“ Swift doesn’t have a one size fits all approach to account management, and they tailor their service to your individual needs. Fast, professional, and focused on relationship. ”

“ I am smart now – when we have a group of students traveling to China, we just send the paperwork to Swift, and don't mess with the Consulates directly anymore. It saves us valuable time and money to let the experts handle the process from start to finish. I am so grateful for the relationship I have with Swift. ”

“ It's refreshing working with people who love what they do – that's Swift. Every time I visit their office I am impressed with the culture in the office – the staff is always smiling and happy. ”
